EUGLOHRIA's WP4 Workshop on:

“Sharing best practices and promoting innovation in global health” (Task 4.2)

Date: Tuesday, 16th November 2021 at 10:00 (CET)

The EUGLOHRIA consortium will meet online on 16th November 2021 at 10:00 am (CET) for a workshop on the exchange of best practices, focusing on commonalities and differences in local innovation chains.

In preparation of the next activity of Work Package 4, the workshop shall serve to identify facilitators and potential obstacles regarding the role of external actors and political players regarding the promotion of innovation on a local and regional scale.

The workshop will start with an input by the host university, LMU, in form of an interview with the project coordinator of the HOCHSPRUNG project. This interview serves to present one of the best practices LMU's technology transfer office can bring in to the EUGLOHRIA cooperation; it will be followed by presentations from all consortium partners to complement the exchange of best practice examples.

The final round of discussion is meant to identify similarities and differences experienced by the partners and to summarize lessons learned.

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under grant agreement No 101017572.
